Joel Mattieu

I am a Front-End Developer and Software Engineering student who loves coding and continually learn new things. I am a highly detailed person, not only visually but also about functionality in the development of apps and websites. I want to join the world work to continue improving myself and gaining experience in this wonderful world of web development. I am currently learning React but open to learn any other technology. I am also interested in UX/UI.
